Read the following information carefully and answer the given questions.

The clashes in Kolhapur over the last few days are part of a disturbing trend in Maharashtra. Several incidents across the State in recent months reveal signs of a premeditated plan for communal polarisation and to keep the pot boiling. Most of these incidents have seemingly silly origins but have derailed normal life for several days. The latest eruption was over random social media messages that apparently glorified Mughal emperor Aurangzeb and 18th century Mysore king Tipu Sultan. Forty people have been arrested and prohibitory orders are in place till 19 June. Similar protests had taken place in Kolhapur on 17 March. In Beed, on 9 June, comparable events unfolded. The renaming of Aurangabad to Chhhatrapati Sambhaji Nager by the state government in February was the trigger for the latest incidents; clashes in the town led to one death on 30 March. But there is never a dearth of reasons for a clash. On 30 March, during a Ramnavami procession in Malad in Mumbai, there were clashes between Hindu and Muslim communities over the playing of loud music. On 4 April, in Jalgaon, loud music being played before a mosque was cited as the reason.
